LA MAMA PRESENTS THE STORYTELLER'S

SOME SECRETS SHOULD BE KEPT SECRET

When a woman dies, three letters are sent to her adopted children from the Stolen Generation asking them to return to the remote homestead for the reading of her will.

So begins an epic journey for the siblings. Their arrival at the old farm where they're welcomed by the old housekeeper catalyses the unravelling of the secrets held deep in the home for some thirty years, and the three are forced to face some demons they'd prefer stayed buried in the back paddock.

WRITER/DIRECTORS NOTE | GLENN SHEA

To provide this opportunity for actors/creatives has been a long time in the making. To understand the story you need to understand the worlds within the worlds. I have been very fortunate to find five actors from their respective communities who are eager to learn, not only from a western theatrical framework but from an Aboriginal standpoint perspective. We have established a team who have worked hard and accepted the challenges put before them. I am very proud of their growth and pleased they brought new ideas to the floor everyday. Our creative team, Meg, Elissa, Gina and Coby have created an environment in which the story lives and breathes within its own reality. An Aboriginal Gothic space hides the secrets as well as revealing the truth. I am apart of a productive team full of knowledge, Tessa, Kirsty and Katie, I cannot thank them enough for their patience, insight, observation and listening skills, we hope you enjoy the journey of Some Secrets Should Be Kept Secret brought to you by THE STORYTELLER.

THE STORYTELLER would like to thank Dana McMillan, Holly Payne, Tony Payne, Robin Curwen-Walker, Jarrod McFee, Boz (Andrew Boswell), Chris Lewis, Dan Richards, Thomas Pidd, Kate Cameron, Lorek, Brenton at Meat Market, Dr Chris Mead Head of Drama VCA/MU and our researcher Andrea Barker for their support throughout this production.

We would also like to thank Tess Nethercote Way, Katy Munroe Farlie and Dr. Kirsty Reilly for all their support, patience, dedication and understanding through this Cultural immersion process we endeavour to participate in, we learnt a lot about ourselves and ultimately achieved the theatrical outcome we aimed for as a team.

BRODIE MURRAY
PERFORMER

Brodie Murray is a Wamba Wamba multidisciplinary artist based in Naarm completing his Bachelor of Fine Arts (Theatre) at the Victorian College of The Arts (VCA). His practice spans playwriting, performance-making and acting. Driven by a passion for Koorie storytelling, he has written Soul of Possum (Yirramboi Festival, Castlemaine Festival and Fortyfivedownstairs), Billy's Choice (Melbourne Fringe) and The Whisper (Melbourne Fringe, Fortyfivedownstairs). Brodie is a 2020 graduate of Aboriginal Performance at WAAPA. He has been recognised with several awards, including the Melbourne Fringe Best Emerging Indigenous Artist Award and Young Creatives Award, Creative Australia First Nations Emerging Career Development Award, Sofitel Melbourne on Collins Arts Award, Victorian Mr NAIDOC, and the All First Nations (AFN) Multi-talented Award. Brodie has writing published with Currency Press (Was and Will Be 2024, co-author). He is currently developing a new work, Wiran's Dream with Melbourne Theatre Company's Deadly Creatives program. Recent acting credits include Peggy Sue and Wiran's Dream: A Double Bill (MTC Deadly Creatives 2025).

COREY SAYLOR-BRUNSKILL PERFORMER

Corey Saylor-Brunskill a mere mortal, born of flesh and blood and brought up in the distant lands of Tasmania/lutrawita. Around 20 years ago he decided he longed to become a thespian. Now based in Naarm/Melbourne, as the dream seemed harder to reach on The Isle.

Since making his way to “the mainland” Big Apple, he has kept up the good fight, performed in multiple main stage productions, some you may have heard of, such as Conversations with The Dead, Big Name No Blanket and Viral (Ilbijerri Theatre Company) as well as Whose Gonna’ Love Em (A Daylight Connection, in association with Malthouse Theatre), even travelled back to Tasmania to part take in Nathan Maynard and Rob Braslin’s The Box (Mudlark Theatre Theatre) and more recently was able to be part of House Arrest as part of Yirramboi 2025.

Corey is also an avid maker of music under the rather bonkers MC name Torres Green, and is currently on the final leg of completing his Masters In Theatre Writing at Victoria’s College of The Arts.

Though future aspirations are for film, being under the Fresnel is Corey’s first love, and he hopes you enjoy this show, which should most defiantly be an excellent testament to the age old craft of Theatre making.

MAGGIE CHURCH-KOPP
PERFORMER

Maggie Church Kopp is an Arrernte woman with family connections to the UK and Torres Strait. Based in Melbourne, she is an artist, performer, and facilitator working primarily across circus and theatre.

In 2024, Maggie was awarded the Melbourne Fringe Best Emerging Indigenous Performer award for her work as a performer and writer with Na Djinang Circus in the critically acclaimed season of IN PLACE. Throughout her career, Maggie has collaborated with a wide range of artists and companies, including Kamarra Bell Wykes (A Daylight Connection), Ilbijerri Theatre Company, and Circus OZ. She is passionate about nurturing new talent and creating spaces for underrepresented voices in contemporary circus and theatre.

NICOLE ABOUT PERFORMER

Nicole is an AACTA Award-winning performer, who works across theatre, film, and television. Recent stage credits include Macbeth in Kew Gardens London (2025), A Midsummer Night's Dream, Much Ado About Nothing, and Romeo and Juliet with the Australian Shakespeare Company; the Australian premiere of Selling Kabul at Red Stitch (2023); and the immersive production Because the Night at The Malthouse (2021). Her earlier theatre work includes Oil and Wakey Wakey (Red Stitch), A Good Muslim Boy (Malthouse/QTC), and Secret Bridesmaid's Business (Playbox).

Nicole's recent screen work includes The Clearing (Disney+) and Return to Paradise (ABC/BBC). Career highlights include her role as Evie Mansour in the final season of Jack Irish, Nada in all three seasons of the ABC comedy The Librarians, and Kate in Robert Connolly's film Three Dollars. Other film and television credits include Angel of Mine, Newton's Law, The Doctor Blake Mysteries, Nowhere Boys, The Time of Our Lives, Offspring, Miss Fisher's Murder Mysteries, Very Small Business, Blue Heelers, and Last Man Standing.

Nicole trained at École Internationale de Théâtre, Jacques Lecoq in Paris and has a Master of Educational and Developmental Psychology.
