La Mama Theatre will celebrate her history with a stunning new limited edition print series available for purchase from today. Featuring four iconic reproductions from the 1960s and 70s, these prints pay tribute to the daring creativity that helped shape Australian theatre.

La Mama CEO & Artistic Director Caitlin Dullard:

"By purchasing one of these glorious prints, you're not just celebrating La Mama's history - you're helping to shape her future. Australian theatre needs La Mama to continue this vital work that has long sustained and inspired the independent sector. These prints beautifully encapsulate the artist-led legacy we're determined to carry forward."

The prints capture a vivid period of Australian theatre where bold story ideas met equally bold graphic styles. Designed by Ian McCausland, Trina Parker, Bruce Spence, and Beth Parnaby, this series of four have been beautifully reproduced on Mohawk Archival Vellum, are individually numbered and certified by La Mama Theatre Melbourne, and come with a certificate of authenticity.

All proceeds go towards supporting La Mama's continuing theatre work; making space for new writing, staging new performances, and ensuring that independent artists continue to have the opportunity to experiment, and to create new Australian work.
